Coast Electric Shop Foreman Lewis Harshbarger. Police blocked off Main Street traffic as a precautionary measure for some two hours until the gas leak was stopped. Hancock Board concerned

Fatalities mounting in Hwy. 603 wrecks

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday authorized sending a letter to the Mississippi Highway Department and directed Sheriff Ronald Peterson to meet with highway officials in an attempt to remedy the number of traffic fatalities and accidents occurring on Hwy. 603.

Peterson addressed the board at the beginning of its regular meeting after an accident Sunday on the highway claimed the life of a Long Beach man.

"We have got a problem on Hwy. 603 and I don't know how to alleviate it. But I know there has been approximately one death a month this year on that road."

He said several people are still hospitalized as a result of those and other accidents.

"There are no shoulders on the highway and it has become a dangerous situation, especially south of I-10 with US-90. We are losing people at an alarming rate," he said.

Peterson said there is no other road in the county on which so many accidents occur.

Board member Sam Pernicario said engineers from the highway department have studied the road in the past, particularly the intersection of Hwy. 603 and the Kiln-Delisle Cutoff Road.

"They recommended leaving the road the way it was. They said if you reduced speed to 40 miles per hour and put up a traffic light that it would make things worse."

Pernicario said that report was based on the amount of traffic which travels the road.

Peterson responded, "That's bull. The study should be based on the number of accidents, not on the amount of traffic."

Board attorney Walter Gex said the board had previously adopted a resolution requesting the highway department change the two lane highway to a four lane highway.

Board member Bert Courrege recommended submitting another letter to the department asking them to reconsider their last study.

The board adopted that resolution and also directed Peterson to meet with State Highway Patrol officials.

Tuesday, Peterson said he contacted Violet McCardle, MHP inspector, who said somebody in that department will be coming to Hancock County to ride along Hwy. 603 with the sheriff in order to determine what and where problems exist on the road.

Also during the Monday meeting, Peterson informed the board of a recent act passed by the state legislature

Man killed on Hwy. 603

William Johnson Jr., 50, of Long Beach, was killed approximately 12:30 p.m. Sunday after his 1977 Ford pick-up truck overturned on Hwy. 603 in Hancock County.

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Tony Greer said Johnson apparently tried to pass another vehicle while proceeding south on the highway approximately one-half mile south of Bayou LaCroix bridge.

He said Johnson's pick-up went off the highway on the north bound lane, reentered the highway and went off the soft shoulder of the south bound lane before overturning.

A doctor who happened to be passing pronounced Johnson dead at the scene, Greer said.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Waveland Police and the Diamondhead Fire Department were all called to the scene.

Also during the Monday meeting, Peterson informed the board of a recent act passed by the state legislature

Gypsies jailed in North Carolina possibly hit Pass, Bay residences

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Chief Edward Alley of the Pass Christian Police Department Wednesday said a group of Polish gypsies arrested in North Carolina recently were apparently involved in break front home silver thefts earlier this month.

Chief Douglas Williams of the Bay St. Louis Police Department is also investigating the possibility the gypsies might have stolen silver items from a Main Street residence recently.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is working with law enforcement officials in Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, Texas and North and South Carolina to establish links between breakins in those states.

Some eight gypsies are being held in Greenboro, N.C. at Guilford County Jail without bond. The four men and four women were arrested following a car chase where pillowcases containing $250,000 of silver were thrown from their car.

The FBI believes the eight suspects are from Brooklyn, N.Y., but all were reportedly born in Poland and arrived in the U.S. some four months ago.

Charges of possession of stolen property have been filed against all eight in Greenboro along with two federal charges each of interstate transportation of stolen goods.

Wetbacks nabbed at Borg-Warner

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A U.S. Border Patrol official Tuesday confirmed four illegal aliens were apprehended earlier this month near Borg-Warner Chemicals' Fort Bienville plant construction site.

David Mandel, agent in charge of the Gulfport Border Patrol Station, said, "We apprehended two illegal aliens from Mexico and two from El Salvador on April 10 who were working for a subcontractor at the Borg-Warner site."

"We apprehended them as they were approaching a plant site gate," he stated.

The agent said he did not know by which subcontractor the four were employed, and would not release the names of the illegal aliens.

However, Mandel said all four were men.

Mandel also revealed his office arrested one or two illegal aliens last spring working at the site.

"Most of the aliens working there were in this country legally," he added.

SAND IS ACTIVE THIS COURTHOUSE—Brian Farve, left, assists Ronald Holmes, in sandblasting the new white paint on the Hancock County Courthouse recently. The sandblasting is part of an effort by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council to repaint the courthouse, which had not been repainted since 1974. Both Farve and Holmes are residents of Bay St. Louis and were formerly employed by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) before being contracted to work for the Trades Council. All cost for labor is due because of the CETA help with the county paying only for costs of materials. The two above are on the fourth section of staging approximately 30 feet long. The medical staff at HGH recommended the use of Doctors A. Arington, MD and W.E. Hill, MD, cardiologist, to lead the EKG's according to Dr. Lee.

The trustees were told there would be no difference in cost and the Atlanta and Hattiesburg service would still be used.

Dr. Lee said, "By having a cardiologist reading the EKG's at the hospital, they could compare previous ones and a more personal patient care could be given."

Mike Halford, controller at HGH presented, a six month profit and loss statement to the trustees.

Halford stated, "We are very close in expenses and revenue. The census has been down a very small percentage."

Census for March was 30 compared with a high of 40 in February. It was noted that the very good weather was a factor as not too many people are sick in good dry conditions.

Langston said they pulled the census records for four years and the census for March was about average as it ran from 28 to 31 in previous years.

"We have a six-month period when the census is low and it will pickup around September," Langston noted.

Rev. Charles Johnston, trustee president, asked if the administration is watching the number of staff members when the census is low.

Langston commented, "We have had about 10 people, mostly aides, due to retirement or attrition leave and we have not replaced them."

Halford said, "When I first came here we had a lot of trouble in telling people what they owed. The files were not in a uniform order. In a lot of cases, if a person owed $1,000 and an insurance check for $700 would come in, the patient's file would go to a dead section and no effort would be made to which increases the amount of money paid to counties housing state prisoners.

The increase of $3 per day for state inmates brings the total from $7 to $10 per day, and also includes paying medical expenses for state prisoners, the sheriff said.

He added the county received $31,558 in the last two years for housing state prisoners in Hancock County.

He said Shubert jumped from the car he was driving and waved down Waveland Police Officer Veronica Hattabaugh, who happened to be passing at that instant.

"The chase was on again," Ladner said.

The investigator said Hattabaugh radioed the Bay St. Louis Police Department, "but they did not have time to set up a road block due to the heavy Easter traffic."

Hospital names Byrne intensive care chief

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees approved Dr. Donald Byrne, MD as medical director of the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) at its regular meeting Tuesday.

The approval of a medical director for the ICU is necessary for accreditation, according to Dr. Joseph Lee, MD, trustee and staff doctor.

The recently opened ICU has had an occupancy rate of 75 percent. Phil Langston, administrator reported that rate as "very good".

Langston also told the trustees that Supervisors Roger Dale Ladner and Sam Pernicaro were at the hospital Monday afternoon seeking plans on a parking lot which were drawn up last year.

"The hospital and board of health next door both have a parking problem. I have already received a call today from a Gulf Regional Planning Commission representative saying the supervisors have contacted them," Langston allowed.

Pernicaro, when contacted Wednesday morning, said, "Roger Dale Ladner and I were appointed by the Board of Supervisors to try and get an estimate on the cost of a parking lot."

"We reported back to the supervisors and then the hospital trustees after Gulf Regional Planning Commission, whom we have contacted, came up with a plan and an estimate. Both the hospital and board of health have serious parking problems and we would like to solve those at the same time if possible," Pernicaro stated.

Pernicaro also reported, "I spoke to Jim Head, director of the Gulf Coast Regional Commission about the energy efficiency grants now available and they are trying to figure the cost on the central air conditioning and heating at the hospital."

Head did tell Pernicaro that the deadline is next month on the energy efficiency grants and that money is right from Washington, so they were trying to get the figures up as soon as possible.

A lengthy discussion was held by the HGH trustees on the reading of EKG's by computer in Atlanta and an over read by one of five doctors in Hattiesburg.

The medical staff at HGH recommended the use of Doctors A. Arington, MD and W.E. Hill, MD, cardiologist, to lead the EKG's according to Dr. Lee.

In a lot of cases, if a person owed $1,000 and an insurance check for $700 would come in, the patient's file would go to a dead section and no effort would be made to keep the balance."

The controller continued, "We now are billing patients on a cycle system in order to balance the amount of telephone calls and give our bookkeeping department time to answer inquiries. When all the statements went out at the same time we had a backlog of people to call all at once."

Halford stated, "We are working on a better records keeping system on the charges for items used by patients to their insurance companies. In March we had a seven percent increase over February when we had 25 percent more patients by use of the new system."

"We will continue to pursue all bills until there is a zero balance," Halford added.

Keith Roberts, HCA professional relations department, appeared before the trustees saying, "My job is to help meet medical staff needs for the community which is a free service by Beta Sigma Phi."

HCA Management Company took over management of HGH six months ago.

Roberts stated, "I interviewed several doctors today and will speak to others tomorrow. HCA offers a free placement service and we place about 150 doctors a year."

"We survey the areas, then contact the doctors. The need of an orthopaedist was discussed tonight. We identify the doctors and then they are contacted by the communities. We have an active file of over 3,000 doctors and some are trying to relocate," Roberts allowed.

Langston reported an effort by staff of the hospital in conducting various events to raise funds to help redecorate the patient rooms.

A rummage sale recently held netted $300, according to Langston.

The administrator reported another big event is being planned.

County school officials planning 16 programs

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County School District administrators are planning to add 16 projects and curriculum programs.

The projects and programs include community education, early college admissions for high school students, a career development center, a summer youth occupational orientation program, music festivals, fine arts competition, a drama workshop, creative writing workshops, musical productions, band clinics, student newspaper workshops, yearbook workshops, science fairs, a sports clinic, mini-courses and additional classrooms at all campuses.

Billy Sills, superintendent of education, explains, "Community education will help high school graduates learn certain skills such as quilting, canning and automobile mechanics."

"These would be short classes available free, but would not be the in-depth courses offered at the Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational Technical Center at Stennis International Airport," Sills says.

"Early college admissions would be open to 11th and 12th grade advanced students who would like to begin taking college courses during the summer holidays," he reports.

"Career development would also be a summer program where students would receive advice regarding methods for saving money earned from summer jobs for furthering their education after high school graduation," Sills says.

"A summer youth occupational orientation program would place students in summer jobs with various county departments to help them find out what is involved in a variety of occupations," he notes.

Sills states he is seeking formation of a chorus at Hancock North Central High School and subsequent music festivals.

"We can get college music professors to lead these festivals at no cost to the district. Nearby schools would send chorus' to receive free advice from these experts," he explains.

The superintendent says this fall or following summer he would like to invite a conglomeration of teachers and students for a fine arts competition.

Sills reports a drama, newspaper, yearbook and creative writing workshops, band clinics and musical productions would be beneficial to most students.

"We need something for the majority of students who don't participate in sports," he notes.

"Science fairs should be expanded to all schools at all grade levels," Sills states.

The superintendent reports presently only HNC High School students participate in science fairs.

Sills emphasizes sports clinics would not just be offered to basketball students, but for all sports activities including football, volleyball and baseball.

"We could get college coaches to instruct these clinics also," he adds.

The superintendent explains mini-courses would include an Honors English program or any other courses beneficial to students.

Sills reports efforts are underway to build 10 classrooms at HNC, four at Gulfview Elementary School and two at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School.

Listing accomplishments of his first year in office, Sills includes:

—Implementation of a five-year interim evaluation for Southern Association of Colleges and Schools' 10-year accreditation inspections;

—Establishing regular teacher evaluations conducted within the district;

—Construction of a $249,000 HNC handicapped center at no cost to taxpayers through 16th Section oil and gas revenues;

—Establishing in-school suspension where students do not miss classroom work and average daily attendance figures, used to obtain state funds, are maintained at a higher number;

—Establishing academic and athletic halls of fame;

—Establishing a merit system where students receive 'points' for extracurricular activities and academic achievements;

—Purchasing new band uniforms for the first time in 20 years;

—Correcting deficiencies cited by the State Accreditation Commission which upgraded the HNC's accreditation from minimum to AA standards (the highest state rating) and Southern Association accreditation;

—Establishing an adult education program in which 50 of 178 students beginning, the program, one year ago, have received Graduate Educational Development degrees;

—Computerization of all the district's financial records;

—Installing speed zone signs on Cuevas-Town Road at the HNC campus;

—Constructing a paved play area for HNC Elementary students;

—Establishing a gifted children's class completely federally funded;

—Microfilming all school board minutes by the State Department of Archives and History;

—Microfilming all school records;

—Installing air conditioning at Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy cafeterias;

—Establishing a school district staff in-service improvement plan including informational classes for teachers;

—Enacting scoliosis screening in all schools;

—Renovating the Clermont Harbor school building.

Concerned Citizens urge letters against low income service cuts

Concerned Citizens of Hancock County has issued an appeal to beneficiaries of Gulf Coast Community Action Agency programs to write to their congressman urging full-scale continuation of the programs.

Geraldine Lang of Bay St. Louis, Concerned Citizens president, said this week, "We feel a personal request from these citizens to our congressmen and senators will do the most good in maintaining these essential programs."

Lang noted programs such as transportation for elderly, information referral, mental health services, weatherization, CETA and low income energy assistance in Hancock County will be adversely affected by proposed budget cuts.

The Reagan administration's budgetary proposals would consolidate financing of 40 social service programs into a single block grant to each of the 50 states and territories, which could distribute the funds to communities as added.

Congressman Trent Lott's Washington address is 2400 Rayburn Building, Washington, D.C., 20515, she added.

Senator Thad Cochran's address is 328 Russell Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20510.

Senator John C. Stennis' address is ANOTHER WATER OBSTACLE REMOVED—Robert (Bobby) Boudin, Hancock County Civil Defense director, inspects a piling recently pulled from the bottom of Watts Bayou with a 2.5-ton Mississippi National Guard winch truck of the 1355th Detachment located in Hancock County. Boudin said the obstacle, which was lodged in the middle of the bayou about two feet underwater, was responsible for sinking one boat and damaging two others. Guardsmen Alfred Selle and Darren La-diner dove into the bayou to attach the truck's 10-ton winch line to the piling while Steve Malley and Boudin operated the truck. The civil defense director said the piling was a remnant of an old sawmill once located on the bayou. Information about dangerous water hazards should be reported to the civil defense office by telephoning 467-9226. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Death trap--Hwy. 603 claims another victim

State Highway 603 claimed another victim over the weekend, the third this year.

That's the same State Hwy. 603 which just a few weeks ago was reported by highway engineers as not in need of four lanes.

The fact that State Hwy. 603 is the leading killer in Hancock County as far as highways are concerned but not in need of improvement is a puzzle to us.

We are not engineers, but, common sense tells us that something must be wrong with State Hwy. 603.

Have you ever tried to change a tire on the non-existent shoulders of State Hwy. 603? It is a problem finding enough shoulder to pull completely off the road in most areas.

We are sure state highway patrolmen must have a hard time pulling someone over for a violation, even though patrolmen seem to be always on 603. We know they have issued many citations.

Traffic in the morning around 8 a.m. is something else on 603. A resident of Shoreline Park says it is not uncommon for him to have to wait in a two-block line of cars to enter 603 on his way to work.

We talked to several County residents who report traffic is bumper to bumper many days on their way to work on 603.

Many of our children travel on 603 to Hancock North Central by bus daily.

This is a major concern to us and especially to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Sheriff Peterson cannot figure how State Hwy. 603 could get a clean bill of health and people continue to be killed.

We have to commend our County Board of Supervisors of their going on record Monday requesting state highway officials come back and check 603 once again.

The opening of Choctaw Shopping Center has had to increase 603's traffic, and just think what will happen when June's vacationers move into our area.

For many years state highway engineers reported nothing was wrong with the signals at US-90 and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Accidents were happening at a terrific pace until the computerized signals were installed.

The number of accidents at US-90 and Beach Boulevard has been drastically reduced by the change of lights. We realize that the problem on State Highway 603 seems to be more serious.

There are many curves on 603, it is not a straight road like most Hancock County highways and we feel a traffic analysis should take the curves in consideration.

With fatalities at a rate of almost one a month, it seems something is wrong.

In our opinion, the Mississippi State Highway Department should find out what is wrong with 603. If their engineers do not know the answer, maybe they should consult the engineers of neighboring states.

Hwy. 603 has been with us for many generations, but the time has come to bring the old trail up to date.

Time and growth of the county have turned that friendly link between town and country into a killer!

Bits 'n pieces

Sunday will be time changing time again for us. Good old Daylight Savings Time goes into effect. Some people do not call it good.

We have not forgotten about the 'spring forward' and 'fall backward' lesson of several years ago.

So Saturday night when you turn in, it would be wise to set your clocks ahead one hour so you can be to church on time Sunday.

A few gallons of paint can do wonders. A case in point is the Hancock County Courthouse.

The painting is being done by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Building Construction Trades Occupational Center.

We have been told the county is only paying for the supplies and the Trades Center is providing the labor.

It seems to be a good program to us, as it gives persons on-the-job training.

We are surprised that other governmental agencies have not used the services of the Trades Center.

We do know that the new paint job has tremendously improved the neighborhood.

Saturday begins 'Keep America Beautiful Week,' and we are glad to see so many of our residents trying to clean-up their yards.

Of course there still are those certain few who do not care how much their residences resemble 'pig pens.'

It would sure be some nice town if all those could be grouped together in some out-of-the-way place all to themselves.

We have to commend the Chamber of Commerce on its efforts in trying to get residents and merchants to clean-up.

CAPITAL FLAG FOR COUNTY—County Veterans Service Officer Mike Necaise, left, presents American Flag to Supervisor President A. A. (Dolph) Kellar which was flown over the Capitol in Washington on March 16. Ladner had requested a flag from U.S. Congressman Trent Lott and it was sent him by George M. White, AAIA, architect for the Capitol. Also present for the acceptance Monday are, rear from left, Hancock Park Director Mary Callier; Tax Collector-Assessor Edward Murlagh; Supervisor Sam Pernicano, Beat Four; Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise; Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, Beat Three; Supervisor Bert Currege, Beat One; Supervisor James N. April 20, 1981
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Sir:
Thanks for nothing!

Your lack of coverage for the Hancock County Arts' Council fiesta on April 18 at the Fair Grounds went a long way towards its miserable failure.

We had no support from our citizens, organizations (or the Mayor of Bay St. Louis).

Granted, we don't make touch downs or base hits nor do we find holes in sewer pipes, but we do give something to our citizens and deserve the same support from you as other organizations receive.

We are grateful for the support of the few people who found their way to our fiesta and hope that we will be better recognized next year.

Thank you

The non-profit organization has chosen to focus its fund raising efforts this year on the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

In the past year the club has raised more than $300 for the society through a rummage sale and a luncheon and style show.

To further its goal, the club will have a yard sale on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 430 Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Available for sale will be all types of clothing, appliances, books, plants, and baked goods.

We urge area residents to come out and support this worthwhile cause.

Dear Sir,

About four years ago our local JC's talked about the need for some sort of recreation center and its maintenance for our teenagers.

After purchasing a parcel of land in bad judgement, and due to pressure from neighboring homeowners consequently a small building was constructed in the 500 block of St. John Street.

I do not know whether or not this building was erected with the needs of our youth in mind, but very little or no youth activity seems to have developed.

As a concerned citizen in regard to our youth in a letter to this editor at that time, I offered my idea which apparently fell on mousy instigators as crude and boisterous.

The only comment I got was from a person who has been employed by our school system for years.

I feel sure he would not print the real definition of the language that should be used to identify such an apathetic group of adults.

Thanks
Earl Lizarra
Bay St. Louis

In response to her obnoxious question which she asked in the form of a statement — quote, I bet that is the first time you ever offered to donate something — I appealed to her generosity for a like donation only to be told that she couldn't afford anything.

Oh yes, she has growing grandchildren.

As a reminder — at that time I suggested a community canvas and subsequent donations of $100 from at least 400 of our financially able citizens.

I felt so sure we could come up with that much I offered to be the first donor.

Results — not even a no thank you. Without further adieu the idea was ostracized.

In the recent past I read where our Hancock County youth court referee was trying to revive the idea, but after the negative attitudes I witnessed in the past, I joined the crowd — Oh, what the hell.

But after reading the Good Friday issue of the Daily Herald, I was saddened and shamed to learn that we are going to depend on a neighbor 35 miles to the east of us to give our kids a decent atmosphere in which to learn to live a decent life.

Yes, Mike, apathy is the only word this editor would print in defining the predicament of our kids of today.

I feel sure he would not print the real definition of the language that should be used to identify such an apathetic group of adults.

Thanks

Bay mayor proclaims Sunday

Viet Vets Recognition Day

Proclamation

Whereas, more than 8,000,000 young Americans answered their country's call to arms during the Vietnam War; and

Whereas, most of these young Americans served their country with honor, in keeping with the military traditions of the Armed Forces of The United States; and

Whereas, the nature of the conflict in which they served left the American people deeply divided over the value of the services rendered to their country; and

Whereas, many of these young people, on return from combat, found themselves scorned by their peers and neglected by many other Americans, adding the insult of rejection to the injury, both mental and physical, of the war in which they served; and

Whereas, these young men and women have not been afforded the honor and recognition due them as citizen-soldiers of a grateful nation; now

Therefore, I, Larry Bennett, mayor of Bay St. Louis, do hereby proclaim April 28, 1981, as Vietnam Veterans Recognition Day in accordance with an act of the Congress of the United States, and call upon all citizens, places of business, and organizations to display the American flag from their homes and business establishments on this special day, and to participate in any special observances organized for the purpose of saying a long overdue "Thank you" and welcome home, to those young Americans who served their country in a conflict of man's history, and with honor and dignity during the Vietnam War.

In witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the official seal of the City of Bay St. Louis on this 22 day of April, 1981.

Arthur Farve. Fire Lt. Alphonse Sheppard said the fire, of an undetermined origin, was confined to the car's engine compartment and extinguished within two minutes after fire fighters arrived. Also responding to the incident was Fire Cpt. Mike Willumitis and Patrolman Harris Boudreux. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

the oldest continuing organizations in the Navy.

NAVOCEANO is a world wide unit with headquarters at NSTL. It is the largest federal organization at NSTL and employs more than 1,000 people.

To recognize the contribution NAVOCEANO employees make to the Gulf Coast, as well as the contribution Navy oceanography makes to national security and social well being, Governor William Winter has proclaimed May 8 as "Naval Oceanography Day" in Mississippi.

President Reagan, in a recent telegram to the Naval Oceanographic Office, said: "I am committed to a revitalized U.S. Navy fleet and a U.S. flag merchant marine. Also, I am determined that we realize the full potential of the oceans as a source of food, energy, and mineral resources.

The U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office will play an important role in helping to achieve these vital objectives."

Alley reported Pass Detective John Dubuisson is flying to Greenboro today to identify items believed stolen from one Pass Christian resident.

"We think the gypsies are responsible for two burglaries in the Pass and one attempted breakin," the police chief said.

Alley said, based on FBI descriptions, Greensboro police recovered silver items including 45 spoons, 41 forks, a ladle and state commemorative spoons all stolen from a 91-year-old woman's residence.

The police chief noted the city would probably not press for extradition of the eight because of the costs involved, the number of charges they face in three other states and only grand larceny charges could be filed locally.

Alley said the FBI apparently did not find any silver items stolen in one other Pass breakin.

The chief said he did not have files available which would identify the location of the two thefts and the attempted breakin, but noted all occurred earlier this month at East Scenic Drive residences.

Williams Tuesday reported he contacted the FBI in Gulfport and Greensboro Monday and is expecting a list of the recovered items.

The police chief speculates the eight also received from Secretary of the Navy John F. Lehman Jr. and from more than 50 Members of Congress.

Rep. Trent Lott is scheduled to be on hand for a portion of the celebration at NSTL.

Keynote speaker at the symposium will be Dr. Robert A. Frosch, president of the American Association of Engineering Societies. Frosch, former assistant secretary of the Navy for research and development, was administrator of NASA during the Carter Administration.

Rear Admiral Ross N. Williams, oceanographer of the Navy, will be the luncheon speaker. The public is also invited to attend the luncheon at a cost of $6.50 per person.

Other speakers on the program are eminent authorities on a variety of subjects relating to the marine technology and oceanographic missions of NAVOCEANO.

As part of its celebration, NAVOCEANO has also sponsored an oceanography poster contest for school students in Pearl River, Hancock and Harrison Counties, Mississippi; and St. Tammany Parish.

NAVOCEANO's sesquicentennial is cosponsored by the Navy League's Southwest Mississippi Council, with the cooperation and support of numerous marine and oceanographic agencies, organizations, and educational institutions.

Also participating in the program are NAVOCEANO Scientific and Technical Director Henry C. Beck; NAVOCEANO commanding officer, Capt. W. C. Palmer, and Capt. John R. McDonnell, commander, Naval Oceanography Command.

Regarding the four illegal aliens recently arrested, Mandel noted, "They all entered the country illegally by coming across the Mexican border."

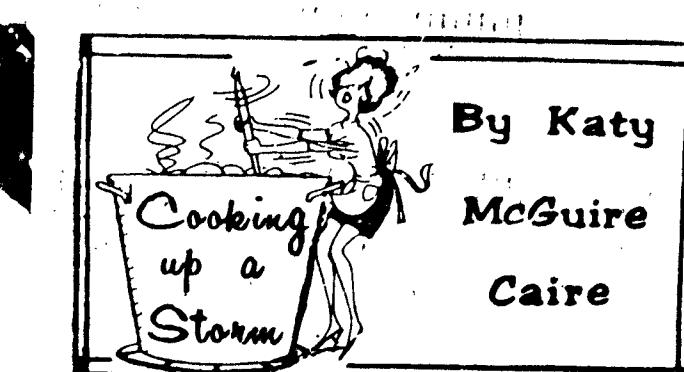

"All four have already been sent back home. Depending on the individual's financial situation some of the illegal aliens will pay for their plane ticket and some are returned at the cost of the U.S. government," Mandel explained.

"We have three men patrolling the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast. We regularly check construction sites of all types where illegal aliens may be found, whether we get complaints or not," the agent reported.

Mandel emphasized that a subcontractor, not Borg-Warner, hired the illegal aliens.

STRAWBERRIES

Remember the old nursery rhyme that tells of a gentleman who wooed his lady with fervent promises that she would "feast upon strawberries, sugar and cream?"

I'm sure the lady said "yes" to his proposal and his promises, for those plump, red, luscious berries covered with clouds of cream are an irresistible combination...and this is the season for indulging in it to our heart's taste.

For a simple, but ever so "gourmet-style" treat, serve your strawberries, with hulls on, along with a bowl of sour cream and another of brown sugar. Dip a berry in the cream, then in the brown sugar, and keep on going! (You know, of course, that you wash the berries before removing the hulls, for other strawberry treats as well, to save the flavor).

Strawberries are delicious, also, without any sugar added, to their natural sweetness, topping over homemade vanilla custard ice cream; or mixed with whipped cream, or even whipped topping from the store, piled high in your prettiest stemmed glasses, served chilled — oh, so many ways!

My favorite of all strawberry desserts is old-fashioned strawberry shortcake, not the sponge cake sort (thought that is very tasty, also) but the "short'ning bread" sort of dough kind that I remember from my earliest days when the family cook, while getting the shortcake ready, would make little "tasting cakes" for my brothers and sister and myself.

She always made a biscuit dough of two cups of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, along with four tablespoons of shortening and enough water to make a stiff dough — and a dash of salt, of course.

Sometimes the mixture's too doughy, and you have to add a little more water so it rolls properly. Roll it, old Southern "hoe cake" style about the size of a cake plate and about a half inch thick.

Bake in a hot oven, about 375 to 400 degrees, till done, and then with your long, sharp knife (heated in hot water a bit ahead of time) split the shortcake in two. Drizzle butter liberally over each layer, just as you do biscuits hot from the oven.

Distribute three cups of strawberries, halved or quartered at random, between tastings as I do, and sugar awhile to your taste, onto the bottom layer, then put the top layer on and cover it with berries.

Bringing to the table, and serve with thick cream poured atop each serving at the very last minute, so as to keep the dough crisp — and enjoy.

You can, of course, make smaller circles and serve as individual shortcakes, or you may prefer whipped cream for topping.

And if you have a few ripe, even overripe strawberries left over, mash them into a sort of puree, and spread atop your hot buttered breakfast toast.

Why are utility bills so high?

Utility bills shouldn't go up so fast. Fixing gas leaks can reduce the $75,000 to $100,000 worth of gas lost each year. Bay St. Louis has federal money for new gas lines in one part of town; but what about the rest of the city? We need to do some repair work on our own.

Materials and repair contractors cost the utility system $243,000 last year. Much of this can be saved by repairing sewer and water breaks as soon as they happen, and by avoiding "blank check" repair contracts that are wide open for abuse.

To save money we need better maintenance practices. We need a new mayor.

Hancock likely to receive Beach Road repair funds

By BRENT MACEY

Hancock County is very likely to receive some $300,000 in Coastal Energy Impact funds for repair work to South Beach Boulevard this week, according to several local engineers and an affiliate of the Bureau of Marine Resources in Gulfport, the organization which handles CEIP funds.

Ron Murray, representative for the Gulf Regional Planning Commission who helped the engineering firm prepare a preapplication for the funds, said, "I am very hopeful the funds will be allocated. We feel the pre-application scored very highly and chances look good we will get the funds."

Victor Franckiewicz, currently on leave from the BMR while seeking the office of mayor of Bay St. Louis, said the BMR staff recently recommended funding be approved for the beach road in Hancock County.

He said that staff makes a recommendation to a CEIP allocation committee who later makes recommendations to the Mississippi Commission of Wildlife Conservation.

"The commission, which met Tuesday, has the final authority in allocating those funds," Franckiewicz said.

He said the county should be receiving notification Friday or early next week on whether or not the funds will be made available.

Some $260,000 is grant money from CEIP with an additional $65,000 expected in matching funds from the county and City of Waveland since both Waveland and the county are named in the preapplication.

Plans for road construction work include the area from the southern Waveland limits to Nicholson Avenue.

Dredging the beach area and pumping sand into the beach from offshore is planned from the southern Waveland limits to Waveland Avenue, Murray said.

Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Developments Inc., engineers, protested the legality of Broadway and Seal pursuing the CEIP funds at the board's meeting Monday.

He stated that Broadway and Seal did not have the board's authority to pursue those funds.

Smith said he informed the board in February of 1981 that funds would be available for repair work on the beach through CEIP and stated he knew they would receive top priority.

He said he informed the board at that time that money available was not sufficient enough to repair the road substantially.

He said the board agreed with his reasoning in February and authorized CEIP money for paving an access road to McCleod park (Texas Flat Road) instead.

Monday he said the competition from Broadway and Seal's application will kill his firm's chances of receiving funds for paving Flat Top Road, since funding for work on the beach road will be given top priority by all parties involved in allocating those funds.

"I do not understand why you gave anybody else authority to submit applications for those same funds," he stated.

Board member Bert Courregé said the board has been pursuing funds for the beach road project since 1979.

"It never occurred that we were interfering with other funding," he said.

Board member Roger Dale Ladner and other board members agreed to not wanting to jeopardize the possibility of receiving funds for the beach road by withdrawing the Broadway and Seal's application.

The board moved to pay Smith's firm $2,000 for the preapplication submitted for paving Flat Top Road.

In further business, the board heard a request from Henry A. (Buck) Marquar, who said his name is Henry Mark Owen, to fence a section of the Hancock County Fair Grounds so that he could stage three concerts this summer.

Marquar said he wanted some "big name" groups to appear and feared many people would not pay a $10 or $15 admission ticket when they could walk in through a wooded area not fenced.

The board directed him to consult with the Fair Association to discuss funding for a fence.

Also on Monday, the board:

Approved a resolution to write a letter to congressmen and senators showing support of the Community Action Program. Geraldine Leng, chairman of the county's Concerned Citizens, told the board that program, along with some 40 others, may be combined to receive one block grant because of federal cuts due to the Reagan administration. She stated the CAP program would not benefit by combining and asked the board to support having the program remain intact.

Adopted a resolution commanding efforts of the Kilm Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5931 for its contribution to numerous benefits by holding dances and activities at the post for that purpose;

Appointed Jay Marsh as Hancock County Fire Marshall with the stipulation his actual expenses will be paid by the civil defense;

Heard a request by Jeannie Moran, an employee of Hancock General Hospital, to have some of the board members appear at a talent show to be held May 4 in the Cy Rosenthal Gym at St. Augustine Seminary to benefit the hospital. Moran said the money will be used to paint and redecorate some of the rooms at the hospital. The board adopted a resolution of support for the show.

The board also took time to view the progress of the reassessment program at the county tax collector-assessor's office.

Rehab plan questioned at Bay program hearing

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Bay St. Louis officials and a City Council candidate expressed concern for owners of delapidated homes at a 1981 Community Development Small Cities Program hearing Monday night.

Ronnie Murray, program administrator, conducted the City Hall hearing attended by members of a Citizen Advisory Committee, city officials, and council candidate John Wilkerson.

The $1.6 million three-year federally funded program will include gas line renovation, housing rehabilitation, property acquisition, building demolition and park improvements in an area bordered on the north by the 400 block of St. George Street and 500 block of DeMontuzin Street, west by US-90, south by Washington Street, and east by Necessie Avenue.

Murray reported, "Houses not occupied and in delapidated condition will be recommended to be declared a public menace and will be demolished."

"We have over $60,000 to invest in lots which will be sold at cost to lower and middle income people. These people will get this property at an excellent price and we'll put another $60,000 in the program for home rehabilitation," he explained.

Councilman Harry Farve asked, "What about the people living in these delapidated houses? Will they be forced to move out?"

"It wouldn't be advisable to get into a case where somebody is paying $50 in rent," he added.

Police Chief Douglas Williams, an advisory committee member, stated, "We have some people that live in something not any better than a chicken coop."

Murray replied, "The Department of Housing and Urban Development won't let us rehabilitate a delapidated house. That would knock some people out from receiving rehabilitation money."

Committee Member Geraldine Lang noted, "In Waveland's Middletown Rehabilitation Program officials found that a home worth repairing was fixed up and it worked very well."

Murray stated, "HUD tries to stay away from relocating people and attempting to work around them."

Councilman James Thriffiley asked, "What about property too small to build a house."

Bay Council alters policies of the past

By BRENT MACEY

Past administration policies were examined by the Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday when several items on the agenda turned out to be related to the previous policies established by the former type of city government.

Mayor Larry Bennett informed the board of a request by citizens living on Kellar and Bismarck Streets to be repaid $200 for constructing approximately 560 feet of water pipe connecting several homes in that area to city water.

Board attorney Joseph Gex said the past administration used to pay cost of the materials when a citizen extended water lines into annexed areas of the city.

However, a new precedent being set by the current administration no longer pays for that cost, Gex said Wednesday.

The council also directed Sue Tolen, deputy city clerk, to examine past city records concerning the abandonment of the southern part of State Street, from the North Beach Boulevard to the water's edge, to determine if the former administration had abandoned that street.

Maurice Colly, land owner in that area, requested the area be abandoned if it had not already been declared legally abandoned by the past administration.

Gex said the property included in the street area will be divided equally between adjoining land owners if the road is abandoned.

In this instance, the property will be divided between Colly and the owners of The Dock on the Bay.

Also during the Tuesday night meeting in city hall, the board:

The administrator replied, "We won't buy it or we could purchase the land for use as a green area..."

"City building codes are more stringent than HUD requirements," Murray added.

Farve stated, "You talk about someone's house and you're going to have problems. A person may own a chicken coop, but it's their chicken coop."

Murray reported, "It's HUD's opinion we can move these people out, but we want to do what's in the best interest of the people living there."

Williams said, "We will have to use a little tact."

Murray noted, "Some people will be willing to go along with the program. Although we're trying to create better living conditions we will have some problems."

"The key to the program is we will be helping low income people," he added.

The administrator reported a family with $11,500 total annual income would qualify for the rehabilitation program.

Thriffiley added, "If a family has a lot of medical bills or high child care expenses they could also qualify."

Murray stated, "These families would have to fill out a set of forms to qualify."

City Council candidate John Wilkerson asked, "What will the rehabilitation program do to the tax assessments on these improved homes?"

Murray replied, "This could raise their taxes, but increased taxes won't hurt as much as rain coming through the roof on somebody's head."

"We'll set up a point system where the most needy homeowners will receive assistance sooner," he added.

Wilkerson noted the 1975 Privacy Act might present some problems regarding public disclosure of an individual's income.

Regarding expansion of the project area, Murray explained, "We can't move into the outer area until we address the project area."

Murray reported a "full application" will be submitted to HUD May 18 with the project period beginning Aug. 1.

He said in January and February applications will be accepted for housing rehabilitation work.

Funding for the project will be over a three-year period with $633,000 budgeted for 1981, $500,000 for 1982 and $533,000 for 1983.

Some $409,000 will be spent in 1981 for gas line renovation.

Housing rehabilitation projects will be funded throughout the three-year period with $78,000 allocated the first year for an estimated six homes, $380,000 the second year for some 36 homes and $468,000 the third year for approximately 44 homes.

Murray reported, "It's HUD's opinion we can move these people out, but we want to do what's in the best interest of the people living there."

Williams said, "We will have to use a little tact."

Murray noted, "Some people will be willing to go along with the program. Although we're trying to create better living conditions we will have some problems."

He said in January and February applications will be accepted for housing rehabilitation work.

Funding for the project will be over a three-year period with $633,000

An estimated $26,000 recreation improvement budget will be spent in the first year to upgrade the Washington Street Park.

An administrative and contingency budget is slated each year with $150,000 reserved for the first two years and $65,000 for 1983.

Murray said administrative costs are included in each budget area, but he would not reveal those costs.

Also attending the meeting was Committee Member Ruth Summers, Mary Murray, Mayor Larry Bennett, Councilman Wilmer Seymour and Phillip Williams.

A second public hearing is slated at 6 p.m. May 4.

Tigers end season with extra inning victory

By RANDY PONDER
Mark Breland slugged a two out triple in the bottom of the eighth inning, scoring Joe Bye to give the Bay High Tigers a 2-1 come from behind victory over the d'Iberville Warriors Saturday afternoon in Bay St. Louis.

Breland's game winning hit following Bye's lead off single as the Tigers ended their season on a high note.

David Strong earned the win, striking out eight batters and allowing six walks.

The Tigers, under the direction of coach Eddie Carnley, won 11 games and the "B" team coach.

Carnley, who has accepted the position of head football coach at Seminary High School, had a 21-18 record in his two years at Bay High.

The Tiger "B" team also had a successful season, finishing with a 8-0 win over d'Iberville, and an 8-3 season record. Gary Griffin is the "B" team coach.

Favre blasts baseball player apathy at HNC

By RANDY PONDER
The Hancock North Central baseball program was terminated a week before the season's end because of lack of players.

"We gased up the buses to go to Vancleave and only six boys showed up," coach Irvin Favre stated.

Contests slated for April 11, with Vancleave, and a home game with Bay High on April 14, were cancelled.

"I was not satisfied at all with the way things have gone. The material is here, the dedication is not," Favre said of the ball club.

"I don't like wasting my time or seeing the ones that show up for practice waste theirs."

"Ball games are won on the practice field and some of these people just didn't want to practice. We had only six players who consistently showed up," Favre explained.

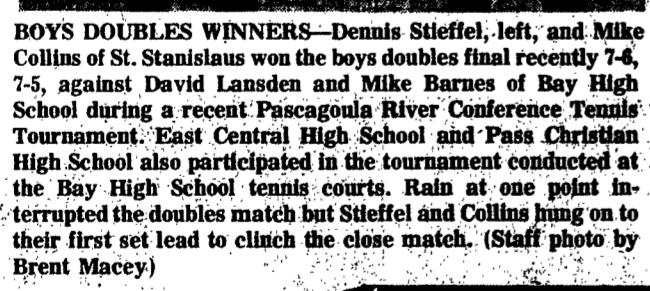

"I'm accustomed to coaching boys who want to play. We won two trophies in the early part of the season and then some of the boys starting having excuses for not showing up. Other things were more important to them than playing ball," Favre added.

Favre has been at HNC for 11 years, ten as head football coach, and eight years ago was instrumental in starting a baseball program at the school.

This season was Favre's first as head baseball coach except for when the program was first started.

Favre stated that some of the kids did do a good job — Don Necaise at first, Bruce Bowman at third, Brian Armento at short, Bob DeVaughn at second, Cedric Goff in centerfield, and Scott Favre in rightfield were all dependable players; according to the Hawk coach.

"If I'm running the ball club next year, we may not have a team. I'll run some people off if they don't want to practice," Favre promised.

NAMED TO CONFERENCE TEAM—North Bay students Parnell Galloway, left, Brian Laneaux, and Ronald Elzy were selected as first team all conference players in the Hancock County Elementary Conference. Galloway and Laneaux are fifth graders while Elzy is a sixth grader.

ALL CONFERENCE—Donna Everett, left, and Missy Monti were recently named to the Hancock County Elementary all conference team. The girls are sixth graders at North Bay Elementary.

Oakland kicker booked for USM football camp

The 1981 University of Southern Mississippi Football Camp will be conducted May 31-June 5 by Golden Eagles Coach Bobby Collins, his complete football staff and guest lecturer Ray Guy.

The nine-man Eagle staff will coach young men from 10 through senior high school age in all phases of football instruction including running, passing, punting, receiving, place kicking, blocking, and form tackling without contact. Strength building, ability and quickness will be stressed.

The Camp will be divided into three divisions according to age, size, and ability, with groupings within each division according to position.

Campers will be grouped together by ages to live in an airconditioned dormitory with 24 hour-a-day supervision by USM coaches. Three meals a day will be served in a special section of the USM cafeteria.

Training facilities include the Eagle dressing rooms, weight-lifting and training rooms, the USM football stadium and AAU-sized indoor pool. A group insurance plan has been contracted for all campers.

Registration for the camp must be postmarked no later than midnight May 24 since enrollment is limited to the first 200 applicants.

The USM Football Camp is sanctioned by the Mississippi High School Activities and the Mississippi Private School Activities Associations, and the activity associations of other states.

For detailed information contact the USM Dept. of Conferences and Workshops, USM Box 5136, Hattiesburg, MS 39401, or call (601) 266-4265.

Cable sports network plans eight-hour draft coverage

ESPN, Ch. 3 on Hancock Cable, will provide live reports from the Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders' headquarters as part of the eight-and-a-half live hours of NFL Draft coverage Tuesday, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Besides being the Super Bowl champion, Oakland is the only team that has two first-round picks. General Manager Al Davis, Coach Tom Flores, players Jim Plunkett (Super Bowl MVP), Gene Upshaw, Ray Chester, Marc Wilson (Oakland's number one pick last year) and others will be on hand to comment.

ESPN will switch from either the New York Sheraton, draft headquarters, or its Bristol, Connecticut, studios, to Oakland after the Raiders make their picks, as well as periodically throughout the day.

"Oakland is the only team in the NFL not in a scouting combine," said Senior Remote Producer Bill Pitts, who will produce ESPN's coverage, "and Al Davis is one of the great football minds today. Those two facts, combined with the West coast element the reports will lend, will definitely enhance the show."

Ron Barr, sports director at KSFO-AM who has covered the Raiders, will handle the reports for ESPN.

Whale restoration benefit race planned in Jackson

During the 1981 legislative session, a bill that will become more memorable with time was passed recognizing the prehistoric whale as the State Fossil of Mississippi. Mississippi joined eight other states in designating a state fossil.

Author of the bill, Senator Con Maloney of Jackson, presented copies of the proclamation to the Mississippi Gem and Mineral Society and the Mississippi Museum of Natural Science Foundation at the Museum on April 13.

Students from local schools watched the presentation and participated by donating money they had raised for the restoration of the whale skeleton.

Meeting participants are asked to comment on the strengths and weaknesses of the Mississippi Coastal Program, new goals or directions, and matters of general program concerns. Written comments may be sent to Ms. Rosella Sussman, evaluation officer, OCZM-NOAA, Page Building No. 1, 3300 Whitehaven Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20235.

For more information, contact Jerry Mitchell of the Bureau of Marine Resources at 864-4602.

Men, women and kids can compete in their own age groups for over 105 medals and 20 trophies.

All runners will receive a "Late Great Whale Race" t-shirt.

As last year, all proceeds will go toward the restoration of a 50-million-year-old whale from Mississippi.

For more information contact the Jackson Downtown YMCA at 948-3090, or the Mississippi Museum of Natural Science, 354-7303.

As a part of that fund raising effort, the second annual "Late Great Whale Race" will be held on Saturday, May 2 at Smith-Willis Stadium in Jackson.

Runners of all ages are invited to participate in the 5,000 meter (3.1 miles) individual and team races, and a one mile fun run.

In last week's The Sea Coast Echo Sports Section, an appeal for players in the Bay St. Louis Men's Softball League inadvertently indicated minimum age for applicants is 28 years. The minimum age is, in fact, 18 years. Persons interested in playing during the league's 1981 season should contact Rex Hesler of Bay St. Louis, 467-1796.

HOW MANY BOATERS?

If you were asked to guess how many Americans went boating last year, what would be your answer?

Consider yourself well informed if you said better than one-third. Information available to Mercury outboards boating department shows that nearly 60 million persons participated more than once in boating last year. Additionally, these water enthusiasts own 11.5 million pleasure craft of which 6.7 million were outboard powered.

These figures attest to the fact that outboard boating continues to play an important role in the outdoor recreation plans of many people. Major interests are fishing and water skiing, but increasing in popularity are family-oriented activities such as day-long picnic outings and overnight boat camping.

The outlook for boating opportunities in the future is good, in spite of concern about possible energy shortages. Smaller, lighter boats, powered by more fuel efficient outboard engines, are being introduced into the marketplace.

Cool-Down Exercises As Important As Warm-Up

Much has been written on the importance of amateur athletes warming up to get their bodies prepared for physical exertion.

Little attention has been paid, however, to the necessity of cooling down after such exertion.

Professional athletes are taught to warm-up, exercise, then cool-down. For example, running expert Jim Flax says:

"When your run is over, don't stop suddenly. Take time for a cool-down. This should consist of a brief walk and stretching of the same kind you did before you ran. Try to devote 8 or 10 minutes to cooling down. By the time you stop, your pulse should be within 20 beats of what it is when you aren't exercising."

To replace vitamins and minerals lost by the body during athletic activity or exercise, researchers at Wagner Thirst Quencher recommend drinking liquids with sufficient amounts of potassium and sodium. Glucose and high fructose corn syrup are also necessary ingredients to maintain body energy levels during cooldown.

If you abruptly stop exercising after a vigorous workout, you could experience dizziness, faintness, extra heart beats or even nausea, according to Wagner Thirst Quencher researchers. The reason for this, they state, is because the blood is trapped in the suddenly non-moving muscles. The cool-down gives the blood a chance to return to its normal circulation levels and the heart rate to its average level.

Following are seven cool-down exercises recommended by Wagner Thirst Quencher researchers. It isn't necessary to do every exercise, but be sure to cool-down for 8 to 10 minutes.

1. Arm Circles: Stand with feet spread shoulder-width apart, Rotate both arms at the shoulder joints in a forward-to-backward direction.

2. Wing Stretches: Stand erect with feet 2 to 3 inches apart, hands in front and elbows raised to the side. Keep head up. Pull elbows back.

3. Waist Bend: Stand with feet apart and hands on hips. Bend forward, head up, and try to put upper part of body parallel to the floor.

4. Sitting Toe Touch: Sit on floor with legs extended in front of you, feet spread 6 to 8 inches apart. Stretch arms and hands out in front. Bend trunk forward and extend hands as far as possible. Keep legs straight when reaching forward.

5. Side Leg Raises: Lie full length with right side of body on floor. Lift leg up and down rapidly at least 12 inches from the floor. Turn on left side and repeat with right leg.

6. Standing Knee Press: Stand on one foot and pull the knee of opposite leg up into chest. As you pull knee into chest, raise up on toes of supporting foot.

7. Trunk Circles: Stand with feet spread shoulder-width apart and hands on hips. Rotate trunk in a complete circle, bending as far as possible in every direction.

Oak Downs Easter crowd sets attendance record

(SPECIAL TO THE SEA COAST ECHO)
PEARL RIVER, La.—Oak Downs' largest crowd of the year Easter Sunday.

Pat Ladner of Hancock County visited the winners' circle twice.

Ladner's Miss Sha Na Na won a special 350-yard quarterhorse race for two-year-olds with a clocking of :18.86. And Ladner's Little Blue took an open 350-yard quarterhorse race with a time of :18.19.

The first open quarterhorse contest was won by Dunn Bar Dandy, owned and trained by Milford Favre of Pass Christian, but only after the horse which ran first, Big Red, was disqualified for fouling.

Big Red posed a Class AAA time of :17.96 for the 350-yard distance, the best clocking at Oak Downs for the 1981 season. Dunn Bar Dandy was timed in :18.16, the second best performance.

In a special open thoroughbred race covering three furlongs, Dead End Street, owned and trained by Alvin Smith of Gulfport, upended Petite Sir.

In an upset, Little Chester, owned and trained by Anthony Deedaux of Gulfport, turned back Alvin Addison's Linda Three Bars by three lengths in a 440-yard test run in near darkness.

In a rematch covering 440 yards, Jessie's Beauty, owned by V.L. Thomas of Bogalusa and trained by John Paul Amacker of Poplarville, for the second time in two weeks whipped Charles Dunn's Some Kind of Bad. But as opposed to nearly two lengths two weeks ago, Jessie's Beauty won this one by only a nose. Both horses recorded Class AAA times, Jessie's Beauty in :22.16 and Some Kind of Bad in :22.18.

TOOTSIE ROLL PROCEEDS—Paul Seckso second from right, of Bay St. Louis, program director for Pere Le Duc Council No. 1522, Knights of Columbus, turns over a check for $2,400 to Grand Knight Bob Hubbard. The money raised in the council's recent Tootsie Roll Drive, is earmarked to benefit

bard said the event was well attended with food prepared by Knights Tony and Jake Morreale. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Sacred Heart Brothers honor jubilarians

Honored in chapel ceremonies on Easter at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis were four Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

Three celebrating Diamond Jubilees were Brother Christopher Cox, Brother Claver Thomas, and Brother Maximin Alford.

The Golden Jubilarian was Brother Alfred Kolb.

The Diamond Jubilarians all entered the order at Metuchen, N.J. in 1921, made their first vows there in 1923, and took final vows at Bay St. Louis in 1929.

Brother Alfred entered Metuchen in 1931, took his first vows there in 1935, and pronounced his final vows in 1941 at Bay St. Louis also.

Brother Christopher, a native of Fall River, Mass.

served African missions in Uganda and in Kenya for 28 years. His other assignments have been in Mississippi,

Indiana, Louisiana, New Jersey, Canada, and Alabama.

A renowned walker and bicyclist, Brother is still active in these fields while working in the Resource Center at Brother Martin High School in New Orleans.

Brother Maximin, a native of Washington, Ind., was felled by a heart attack nearly 20 years ago which succeeded in merely slowing him down but not preventing him from teaching.

During his long and eventful career, Brother has taught in New Jersey, New York, Alabama, and Louisiana where he is presently stationed at Brother Martin High School.

Brother Claver, a native New Orleanian, in addition to teaching at the high school level, also taught college at Spring Hill, Ala. for approximately a quarter of a century until 1975.

At the present time, Brother Claver is in the bursar's office at St. Stanislaus. His high school teaching assignments have been in New Jersey, Alabama, Mississippi, New York, and Louisiana.

Brother Alfred Kolb, the only Golden Jubilarian in the group, was born in Vicksburg, Miss.

Brother's assignments have taken him to New Jersey, Alabama, and Louisiana, in addition to his working on the mission field in Africa (1958-1968), serving a good part of the time there as director general.

Currently, Brother Alfred is teaching at Vandebilt Catholic High School in Houma, La.

After the celebration of the Easter liturgy, a banquet honoring the Jubilarians was held at St. Stanislaus. Adding luster to the occasion was the presence of the Superior General of the Order, Brother Maurice Rattie, who is visiting the Southern Province at this time.

Knights of Columbus Pere Le Duc Council No. 1522 announced the successful conclusion of its annual "Tootsie Roll Campaign" for the mentally retarded in the State of Mississippi.

More than $2,400 has been collected to date.

We sincerely thank the citizens and businesses of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Clermont Harbor, and Lakeshore and the Knights who gave so unselfishly of their time and energy to make this most worthy activity such a tremendous success.

The "Mass of the Last Supper" Holy Thursday at Our Lady of the Gulf Church was conducted by Brother Knights Father Francis Farrell, and Father Henry McInerney with Brother Knight David Treutel as commentator.

Ushers were Brother Knights (and brothers-in-fact) Charles and John Scialla.

The choir was under the leadership of Ollie McKenna.

The "Adoration" at Our Lady of the Gulf was conducted from 9 to 10 p.m. and from 11 p.m. to midnight by the Knights of Columbus.

The 9 to 10 p.m. service was led by our worthy Grand Knight, Bob Hubbard, with Knights Chris Austin, Alvin Favre, John Bezou, Tony Scavo, John Scialla, Gene Morti, E.P. Laroux, Morgan O'Rourke, John Gonzales, Curtis Matherne, Teddy Morel, T.F. Monti, and John Clements participating.

The 11 p.m. to midnight

a Utah Museum concerning the displaying of his miniature reproduction of the Salt Lake

Temple.

Returning to Hattiesburg

for this event will be Dr. Paul

Cheeseman, archeologist and professor on leave from

Brigham Young University who is currently serving as the

Baton Rouge, La., mission priest.

He will display his collection of ancient American artifacts.

Cheeseman will be on hand to discuss and answer questions concerning his exhibit.

DIXIE DRAWL WINS AGAIN—The Dixie Drawl, the student newspaper at Pearl River College, set several Mississippi Junior College Press Association records enroute to winning the Overall General Excellence Awards for the sixth time in the past eight years. The PRC newspaper set MJCPSA records for the most first places (nine), most individual awards (15), and most overall wins during the association's 31-year history. Drawl staff members attending the convention are, front from left, Sandi MacInnis, Picayune, staff reporter; Cindy Croney, Picayune, co-news editor; second row from left, Anne Gendusa, Poplarville, staff artist and Peggy Creel, Columbia, co-

Wright editorials tops in state Junior College Press competition

Pearl River College's Dixie Drawl won 15 awards including the coveted General Excellence Award as the best Mississippi junior college newspaper at the recent annual Spring Awards Conference of the Mississippi Junior College Press Association (MJCPSA) at the Biloxi Beach Motor Hotel.

The PRC newspaper not only captured the General Excellence Award for the sixth time in the past eight years, but set MJCPSA records for the most first places (nine); most individual awards (15) and most overall wins during the association's 31-year history.

Cliff Crandall, co-managing editor of Poplarville, also set a MJCPSA record for winning six individual awards during one year of competition.

Crandall won first place certificates for features, news, advertisements, editorials, and third place awards for editorials and news.

"I'm extremely proud of this staff," said Larry L. Stanford, advisor, "our performance at this awards conference is even better than I had hoped for or anticipated."

Awards and accomplishments of this magnitude can only be gained through dedication, many hours of hard work, and much sacrificing on the part of many individuals."

Joey Howard, sports editor of the Drawl, was also awarded a $250 MJCPSA scholarship. Howard plans to attend Ole Miss in the fall and will receive a matching $250 from that institution.

The awards collected by the 1980-81 edition of the Dixie Drawl enabled the winning tradition to continue at Pearl River.

In the past 10 years the Drawl has won 81 state awards, had 15 state officers and has been first overall in 1974, 1975, 1976, 1978, 1980, 1981 and placed second in 1977 and 1979; fourth in 1973 and third in 1972. The Drawl has won the Division One trophy 7 of the last eight years.

The entire staff can claim first place for the General Excellence, Division One General Excellence, and for make-up and design.

Bob Wright of Bay St. Louis, co-managing editor, picked up a first place award for editorials and second in sports writing. Wright won two awards last year at the MJCPSA Conference.

Suzanne McSwain, of Bogalusa, La., feature editor of the Drawl and vice-president of MJCPSA, won a first in ad make-up and Joey Howard of Poplarville, won first place in sports. Second place certificates were presented to Paul Robinson, chief reporter, Bay St. Louis, for news writing; Danny Rhodes of Bay St. Louis for cartoons and Ed Fore, photography editor of Poplarville, for photography.

The MJCPSA newspapers and individual entries were judged by three North Carolina newspapers. State Advisor Diane Sanders, Northwest Junior College, handled the competition chores.

"I'm very impressed with the quality of the Dixie Drawl," said Sam Ragan, one of the judges and publisher of the 11,000 circulation Pilot of Southern Pines, North Carolina. "The Dixie Drawl measured well with the best collegiate newspapers in the country."

Another of the three judges said the Drawl "stood in sharp contrast to the others, with pointed, well-written editorials." A third judge said, "The Dixie Drawl is the clear winner in general excellence — excellent product in every way — head and shoulders above the other entries, and without a doubt, the best overall."

Co-Lin's Wolf Tales placed second and Holmes' Growl was third in the overall competition. Hinds' Hindsonian won five awards, including two first places; Holmes five awards and Colton four.

The 1981 Drawl staff includes: Cliff Crandall and Bob Wright, co-managing editors; Peggy Creel and Cindy Croney, news editors; Ed

Staff reporters for the Drawl are Wendy Abrams, Rocky Faye Andry, John C. Branson III, Debbie Bright, Joey Carver, Lisa Ann Douglas, John Patrick Ennis, Johnny Fells, Julia Furr, Glenda Gardner, Lawana Johnson, Sherri Mary Ladner, Sandra MacInnis, Richard Edward Mather, Cheri Pitts, Terri Quintini, Gary Russ, Becky Ryals, Lisa Stoufflet, Janet Williams, and Brenda Young.

Margaret Boone is the Drawl compositor and the paper is printed by the Bogalusa Daily News in Bogalusa, La.

Professor sees robots as bonus to society

Robots—once a creation of science fiction movies and novels—could be the answer to this country's economic woes while helping the homemaker and the handicapped, says a University of Mississippi professor.

The complete social impact of the sophisticated robot technology remains to be seen, but by the year 2000, one-third of all jobs now done by humans will be performed by the mechanical devices, predicts Dr. Vanessa Arnold, assistant professor of business education and office administration at Ole Miss.

Dr. Arnold said more than 7,000 robots in all shapes and sizes are currently used in business and industry and more robots with even greater functions will be used in the near future.

Dr. Arnold has spent several years, studying the use of robots and recently wrote about them in "Mississippi's Business," a publication of the Ole Miss Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

"Robots are extremely useful in doing menial labor tasks that workers do not want to do, such as placing metals in hot ovens or checking maintenance in a nuclear plant or conducting dangerous police tasks like a bomb dismantlement," said Dr. Arnold.

"But these robots can also be helpful to handicapped people in performing their daily chores as well as assisting them in their jobs."

"Even small businesses and households will be able to use robots because refinements in their systems make them adaptable for smaller jobs," she said.

"There is no doubt that robots will become more commonplace in our society and they could help to make us much more productive."

She said the Japanese industrial community—especially its automobile firms—has greatly improved productivity by using robots in its manufacturing systems.

Despite expected labor union opposition, American industry will have to use robots to compete adequately in the world market, she commented.

"The robots will replace some workers but these people will just have to be retrained into more skilled jobs that the robots can't do more productively," she said. "Most of the jobs being done by robots now are unpleasant tasks that workers don't enjoy anyway."

Two recent trends in the manufacture of robots will soon make the devices available to more companies and individuals, she said.

"First, robots are now being made that have a sense of vision and touch which will make them more useful to many more people. They will be able to do more skilled work," Dr. Arnold said. "Also, they are becoming less expensive as more are produced, in the same way that calculators became cheaper."

Robots now being produced come in all sizes and shapes and look very much like human beings while others resemble machines, Dr. Arnold said. She added that the devices operate by computer program and do not have a mind of their own.

Dr. Arnold said also that with their speed and efficiency robots could free more time for American workers, resulting in the installment of a shorter work week.

She cautioned against the American public reacting as though robots were some foreign foes, saying that robots should be viewed as a bonus for society rather than a threat.

Hancock Title I parent group meets

Hancock County Schools' Title I Parent Advisory Councils recently held meetings at Gulfview and Hancock North Central Elementary Schools.

Guest speakers Mrs. Laney Crampton and Miss Christine LeBlanc, consultants with the State Title I Office, Jackson, emphasized importance of parental interest and involvement in the schools.

Mrs. Crampton discussed ways parents could help their children by proper use and control of television as an instructional tool.

Miss LeBlanc stressed the necessity for teaching children to listen and to develop language skills, both prerequisites to basic reading instruction.

Title I Parent Advisory Councils assist in planning, implementing and evaluating the Title I Program.
